QUOTES ABOUT THE FILM:

"They thought they would have to teach their daughter about the world. Instead, they have to teach the world about their daughter."

"fabulously touching movie" – Dana Walker, dubidoo studios

"When this comes to a theater near you, do not miss it. It is a labor of love in every sense of the word." –
Stephanie Boh, VidMob

DIRECTOR'S BIO

AJ Tesler is an award winning television, film and new media producer and director who has created thousands of hours of content. He founded Catalyst Content Festival (fka ITVFest), now in its 14th year and oversaw its growth into the premier festival in the world for independently produced television pilots, mobile content and web series. AJ has produced tv and news media content for Netflix, VH1, History Channel, CBS, MTV and Sony in addition to creating content for some of the internet's biggest stars. His narrative feature directing debut, Mayfield's Game, starring Sean Astin and Mira Sorvino is due out in 2020.

AJ lives in Los Angeles with his wife Jenny, son Grayden, and daughter, Magnolia, who has Rett Syndrome. They blog and create videos about Rett Syndrome on their website, magnoliashope.com.
